II. SPECIAL ORDERS

III. PRESENTATIONS

A. Title IX Training | 25 minutes

- Ekert: My name is Amber Ekert, I am the Title 9 Coordinator for this campus. Here to stop, prevent, and remedy sexual violence and harrasment. This presentation contains sensitive material
- Federal law, CA law, and college policy determine procedure for dealing with sexual harassment. Taking a trauma-informed approach. Measures against off-campus instances of violence and harassment can also be handled, as these instances can hinder student success. There are multiple pathways the office can take to handle issues.
- What constitutes sexual harassment: different between federal, CA, and college law
- Title 9 office handles several different types of sexual harassment, not just Title 9
- Quid Quo Pro, sexual assault, relationship violence, stalking, hostile environment (most common), electronic harassment.
- Stalking: Commonly misunderstood. It is repeated and unwanted approaches, tracking, contact/correspondence.
- Hostile environment: Under Federal law, needs to be severe, pervasive, AND objectively offensive. For CA law, it's OR.
- CA sexual misconduct: Posting/sharing unwelcome images or sharing others' photos without consent. Title 9 Office can help with this.
- Even IF the instance doesn't violate any legal / official regulations, office can still help
- You can fill out a report online, or speak to Dean Barnard, or speak to any employees (except health center employees since those are confidential), as they will be obligated to reach out to the Title 9 Office.
- You can submit anonymous reports. This limits Title 9 Office's ability to help you, but you can do that. Title 9 Office will keep you information both private AND confidential
- Mental and Physical health departments will give information about Title 9.
- A person can come with a case but may choose not to continue with an investigation UNLESS the perpetrator is an employee or if the perpetrator was violent or if the perpetrator has committed multiple offenses.
- Ekert will reach out 3 times on student email. There is no time limit on when a student can follow up on a case after they make a report.
- Even if sexual harassment happened a long time ago, the office has resources to help you

- Violence Against Women Act (gender neutral), SAVE Act, Title 9 are all laws which support victims of sexual violence/misconduct.
- Being a victim can compromise students' executive function. The Title 9 Office can authorize late submissions, excused absences, excused withdrawals in classes for students who are suffering due from this. Title 9 Office can go further back than one year for excused withdrawals.
- Security accommodations are also available.
- Letters requesting academic accommodations are sent to professors, and a copy to you
- Title 9 can help with pregnancy and related issues, but they don't specialize in it.
- Handed out Title 9 stickers to destigmatize sexual safety and Title 9 outreach and support
- An uptick in incident reports could be a good thing, as it means more people feel comfortable reporting instances of sexual harassment and misconduct.
- SPECTRUM: If there is an issue that could qualify under Title 9 but I'm not entirely sure, Is there anything you could do?
- Eckert: The Title 9 can handle a details case on a case-by-case basis
- TPUSA: You can also reach out to 988 if you need immediate assistance
- Dean Barnard: Don't regret holding back because you were unsure; if it makes you uncomfortable, you should reach out.
- Ekert: It might not be just you; if you report the instance even if it feels "insignificant," it might help us realize trends.
- Motion to extend time by VP Liana, 2nd by Sec. Kshitij
- PTK: What kind of information would you need if someone doesn't know enough about the perpetrator.
- Ekert: We will work with any information you give us, so please always report
- Urban Scholars: there are cameras and police on campus who can also help

IV. UNFINISHED BUSINESS

V. NEW BUSINESS

A. Student Success Framework - Professor Wilhelm | 15 minutes

- Professor Wilhelm: Thank you for having me, I am Professor David Wilhelm and I am Co-Chair of the College Planning Committee. Our planning cycle began during the COVID pandemic. We are one semester short of completing our current 7-year planning cycle and we are working on next year's 7-year planning cycle.
- Current planning cycle: last year I presented to you our proposed strategic goals, and this year we're working on fundamental benchmarks to gauge how well we are meeting institutional and state goals (Vision 2030). Vision-Aligned Reporting (VAR) is data collected to see how we can close equity gaps. Qualitative data, college, district, and state data.
- Program review ensures that faculty are observing data about student success and retention and creating measures to close gaps and further support strategic goals.
- Functional plans: represent layers of support in our college. Integrating this into our program review process and aligning it with Vision 2030. Many functional plans have been merged into each other to combine and streamline them for clarity and focus.
- Tracking progress with Strategic Plan Assessment Scorecards (SPARS)
- New streamlined functional plans are larger in scope and more focused
- Access, Support, and Completion are the 3 tenants
- ACP (Academic Career Pathways) have 6 pillars: Students should feel Directed, Focused, Nurtured, Engaged, Connected, and Valued.
- VARS reported to the state and to college accreditation agencies.
- Urban Scholars: Statistics are measures with SPAS and VARS
- They are measured by VARS to collect data to send to the state chancellor's office.
- Dean Barnard: Data from Joseph's data collection during college hours events to see if the events support those 6 pillars.

- The State requires Vision Aligned Reporting (VAR)
- Once this proposal is ratified, it will be posted on the college website.
- My contact info is dwilhelm@sdccd.edu
- Our Office of Institutional Planning and Research has a website with lots of public info
- Pres. Mike: Will you be asking us to vote on this proposal?
- Professor Wilhelm: I will be asking for your approval of this measure, yes.
- SPECTRUM: Last year the ASG voted down the Puente Program. Will this be similar?
- Dean Barnard: That feeds into shared governance.
- PTK: What does the Strategic Enrollment Plan encompass?
- Professor Wilhelm: It looks into Fulltime Equivalent Students and preparing for the predicted enrollment cliff which will be followed by an enrollment decline. The purpose is to plan/budget for that. It also allows us to lobby for more resources and support if we need more funding.
- Dean Barnard: We can look at what types of students (transfer students, night class students) are coming into the campus and how we should allocate resources (courses, professors) to better serve students.
- Motion to approve Student Success Framework by PTK, 2nd by SPECTRUM. Hand raise vote, PASS

B. CCSAA Conference Budget - Joseph | 5 minutes

- Next week we'll be having a networking event in this room right after this meeting. It is related to the CCCSAA conference because it will give attendees a chance to practice their networking skills before going to CCSAA. I am looking for a vote to approve funding of $1500 for food for us to host the networking event.
- Dean Barnard: This money will come from the Advocacy Fund
- We'll be sitting and talking with some major administrative figures on campus
- Dean Barnard: Club reps will also have the opportunity to share and collaborate with these figures and for you to advocate for your club.
- Sec. Kshitij: To clarify, are you requesting $1200 or $1500
- Joseph: I am requesting $1500 for food for the networking event next week which will help students prepare for CCCSAA.
- Motion to approve $1500 for food for the networking event by TPUSA, 2nd by PTK. Roll Call vote, PASS
- WE cannot use our traditional meeting room for the next several weeks, meetings will be hosted here or someplace else instead.
